VOL. XVII.—NO. 77. PORTLAND, OREGON: FRIDAY, MAY 4, 1877. PRICE—TEN CENTS

GENERAL NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

New York Times on the Policy.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Times has an editorial on the political situation of which the following are the salient points: No observant person can pretend that the party as a whole is divided upon the subject, but the division in it divided upon the subject, but the division has more of the characteristics of a quarrel, and the traces of it will disappear in one direction or another when the results of the present policy become apparent. Business elements which must sooner or later attract from the north, will naturally gravitate toward the Republican organization and will ultimately make the party a power in the States whose ruling politicans now banish it from their boundaries.

Oakey Hall still Secludes Himself.

The World's London correspondent writes about Jakey Hall: The other day a Tribune correspondent called on him and sent a letter addressed to him, but it was returned with all message that there was some mistake. It will be impossible for correspondents to break down this dead wall of resistance. I have not seen the ex-Mayor since I went to his lodgings. I have carefully refrained from going near him, but I was obliged the other day to hold some communication with him in reference to his confidential friends in New York. He, as usual, made no pretense of mystery or concealment with me, but declined to open any communication with New York, and I mention this because, as I have said before, I had rather be spared the necessity of intruding upon Hall again even at the request of his old friends.

Business in New York.

The Times says exchanges at the New York clearing house from January 1st up to Saturday, April 28th, amounted to $719,500,000. This was $245,000,000 more than during the same period last year. Allowing a margin for the recent large stock transactions in Wall street, there are still left indications of reviving business in the metropolis.

Jim Keene's Magnificent Operations.

The Sun says Jim Keene says if the boys stand by him, and do not do any scalping on their reports of purchases and sales, he will make them all rich. Recently he put a hundred thousand capital into the firm of Sterly & Dunlap, and yesterday he started the firm of Pitzhugh & Stewart with a like amount. Pitzhugh was formerly with Santly & Co., and Stewart was Keene's private secretary.

Dion Boucicault on the Bonanza Mines.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Dion Boucicault writes to the Herald as follows:

"As a foretaste, an mining investments appears in the N. Y. Stock Journals. The statement is accurate so far as the two mines called "Bonanza" are concerned. Every man, especially an editor, is entitled to form his own opinions, but he is not entitled to form his own facts. The journal to which I have commented these notices is the balloon and the managers to have used trick and fraud in office. Permit me, as one of the shareholders, whose fate is deplored, to furnish facts composing a brief history of these mines: The body of ore called bonanza first, which discovered, divided into two mines; one half was called Consolidated Virginia, on which the first dividend, Shareholders and assessments $450,000. I speak from memory. This mine has repaid its shareholders $26,000,000 in dividends. The other half of the ore body was called California, and on this mine work was commenced later, but its development was so managed that shareholders were not called on for any assessments whatever, and have never to this day been called upon for any assessment; but California mine has nevertheless paid twelve millions of dollars in dividends on its shares. Wherefore the two bonanza mines being one concern have paid $38,000,000 for cutting on daily record, and exhibit no sign of exhaustion. There is a simple and clear statement of the matter. Eighteen months ago the fire in Virginia City totally destroyed the buildings, works and machinery of these mines, thereby stopping further production for the time. It was expected by shareholders that the managers would have declared at once further dividends and the work should be rebuilt. Unfortunately they resolved, with a pride somewhat verging on insolence, to go on paying $1,000,000 per month in dividends, and to do so were obliged to deplete the bank of ore accumulated on the dumps and the ready reserve of capital. When the works were stopped and production resumed, this reserve no longer stood against any emergency. Last winter an emergency presented itself. The Con Virginia mine was found to require cleaning and retimbering and further explorations made to ascertain the extent of the mine. To accomplish this productive work temporarily suspended. When banking operations or railway directors find their income insufficient to pay the usual dividends they have recourse to borrow money or using their capital fund to conceal their momentary embarrassment. The managers of the Con Virginia objected to adopt this policy, and stuck to their foundation honestly. Gambling on the stock market seized this opportunity to depreciate the market value of shares and Con. Va. pulled down its sister mine, California, in spite, although this latter mine continued and still continues to pay one million dollars per month in dividends to its shareholders. Were the managers of Con. Va. bound to regard solely the interests of shareholders, or were they called upon to take into consideration the operations of dealers in these shares on the Stock Exchange; were they to regard the real value and prosperity of the mine rather than consider what value the gamblers chose to put upon it, and what they might say of its prosperity, I honestly think they acted nobly and have the right to say, for I am a large shareholder, and have been so for the last three years. I have followed shrewdly and attentively the conduct of their business, feeling confident that they are faithful, hard working, honest men, true to their trust. I hold at stake $100,000 on that opinion. I shall hold it to the end. If I lose that stake it will not be through any mismanagement nor by their dishonesty. Mines are mines, and the next stroke of the pick may develop the end of them. That event is as much unknown to managers as it is to shareholders. A mine is only a pocket, and every pocket has a bottom. Every shareholder knows that, and any shareholder that does not accept that contingency must buy with the security. But I do revolt from the injustice done these gentlemen by attacks on their conduct, and the attempt to attribute them to results brought about by the wanton use made of bonanza shares by gamblers in the Stock Exchange.

A Swedish Act.

NEW YORK, May 2.—This afternoon two miscreants broke the connection of an engine with car brakes on the Jersey Central train as it was nearing the depot at Communipaw. The train, with over a hundred passengers, barely escaped precipitation into a ditch. The men were arrested.

Refreshing Tweed's Memory.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Woodin investigation is refreshing Tweed's memory, and he possesses additional revelations showing how political suits were won. He remembers going to one prominent politician whose name has not heretofore been printed, $1,000, and will give the name of the party when called upon. Seven checks, aggregating seven thousand dollars, were given Peter B. Sweeney, Hugh Smith and Abram Van Nostrand. These checks were dated November 1st. The statement in the hands of the Attorney General gives the exact narrative and how the ring was formed. The ring consisted of Tweed, Connolly, Sweeney, Hall and Woodward, with other minor allies, who met daily. Tweed's office. The statement shows that Hall at first received ten per cents of all proceeds, but was afterwards cut down to five per cents. Bonds of $100,000 were raised by Addison Watson to four hundred or five hundred thousand dollars and duly certified to by him. The statement mentions legislators whose names Tweed frequently visited. Tweed never paid any money directly, but opening a bible which lay on the table Tweed would put between the leaves a number of bank bills and then leave.

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—The announcement that John G. Clark, comedian, had failed in London, causes great surprise. George K. Goodwin, manager of Walnut street theater, thinks it is not our John Clark, an American comedian in London, who is meant.

NEW YORK, May 3.—Before the custom house committee to-day, Wentworth, paymaster, testified that laborers are on the pay rolls which amount to $300,000 now, and might, with business management, be reduced to $75,000. Superfluous men are hired on account of political pressure. Joseph Southward of the statistical bureau, thought five out of twenty-four of his employes might be dispensed with. Assistant Auditor Jacobs testified that there was a general reduction of salaries of 10 per cent. in March, 1875, but they were put up again next year.

LITTLE ROCK, May 3.—Judge Martin, of the Circuit Court, to-day held that the railroad aid bonds act of the legislature of 1869, under which $6,000,000 in bonds were issued, was unconstitutional and the bonds void. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court.

Union Leagues Consolidation.

CHICAGO, May 3.—A joint meeting of the Union League Association and of the National Union League was held here to-day in response to a call from Hon. G. H. Harlow of Springfield, Grand Secretary of the Union League. About fifty prominent persons were present. Mr. Harlow said the object of the meeting was to discuss a proposition to revise the association which did such powerful work for the Union during the late war in order to assist President Hayes in carrying out his Southern policy. He said the National Union League was formed about four years ago under the suppostion that the Union League of America was dead. He was adverse to giving up the parent organization, which was ready to work vigorously if necessary. After several speeches a committee of five from each body was appointed to consider whether the two should unite and how. This committee in a subsequent session brought in resolutions that the National Union League of Illinois should recognize the authority of the National Grand Council of the Union League of America as the supreme authority of the order, and should change its name to the State council of the Union League of America for the State of Illinois, and should recognize the State council of the National Union League of Illinois, as also the subordinate State councils, and finally, that the present officers of the State organization be retained until a new election. These resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Speeches regarding the President's Southern policy were made, and a little opposition thereto was developed, but the speeches generally favored it. In the evening at a secret session proper arrangements were made for the working of the council. Under the new name State and national executive committees were formed.

After an Office.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Various persons acting in the belief that the President intends to remove Simon Wolf from the office of Register of Deeds for the District of Columbia, are making persistent efforts for the place, and delegations have had interviews with the President, including one from Alexandria, Va., composed of colored men in favor of a candidate who had a command in the Confederate black horse cavalry, but several months before the Presidential election espoused the Republican cause. It is said, however, that there is no intention to displace Wolf.

The Emperor was warmly cheered while visiting the various parts of Strasburg.

River Engagement Expected.

VIENNA, May 2.—The most important war news to-day is that the Russians have a number of iron-clad batteries, drawing only a few feet of water, at the mouth of the Dniester, near Akerman, which they hope to safely convey to the Kilia mouth of the Danube, and over the bar to the town of Kilia. River engagements may therefore be expected.

Several British steamers are staying here.

A Russian prize was brought here with a cargo of salt.

The latter began bombarding Ibrail but were compelled, towards noon, to withdraw before the Russian fire. Loss of life and damage in Ibrail is unknown.

LONDON, May 3.—In the House of Commons, Lord Elcho offered the following amendment to Gladstone's resolutions: "That the House, while anxious to promote the well-being of Christian subjects of the Sultan and all races under his rule, condemns the interference of foreign power by force of arms in the internal administration of the Ottoman Empire, and this house is satisfied that Her Majesty's government, while maintaining neutrality so long as our interests are not affected by the war which Russia is waging against Turkey, will not fail to take such steps as would enable them, should occasion arise, promptly to protect our interests and maintain our empire in the East."

Austro-Hungarian Diplomacy.

PESTH, May 3.—The Hungarian and Austrian governments will to-morrow make practically identical replies to interpellations which have been introduced in their respective parliaments on Eastern affairs. Replies will urge that Austro-Hungary will be fulfilling her European mission and considering her own interests by doing all in her power to insure localization of the war, and thereby bring about the possibility of sooner opening a way to mediation.

Austria Pacific.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 3.—Count Andrassy positively assured the Turkish ambassador of the pacific intentions of Austria, and declared that Austria is not mobilizing her troops.

Several Austrian superior officers, including some commanders of brigades, have received furloughs to travel abroad.

A Small Bombarding Force.

BUCHAREST, May 3.—The damage to Ibrail by the Turkish bombardment is unimportant, only one Turkish monitor appeared and the Russians speedily compelled it to withdraw.

Position of Roumania.

The Roumanian Deputies express confidence that that government will protect the country from any conflict with neighboring States, and yet defend Roumanian territory and preserve the country from the horrors of Turkish invasion.

Telegraph Destroyed.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 3.—Official intelligence from the Caucasian frontier gives an account of military operations from April 28th, being mostly cavalry reconnoissances. One succeeded in destroying telegraphic communication from Kars to Erzeroum for a distance of ten versts.

The Force Before Kars.

Relative to operations before Kars the official report says: Gen. Millikoff with the object of supporting his cavalry left his camp April 29th accompanied by 12 battallions, 40 pieces of artillery and a large force of Cossacks. His cavalry reached Vizinkeff the evening of the 30th after a two hours' artillery engagement. Eight Turkish battalions with field artillery issued from the fortress of Kars and occupied a position protected by fortification. The Russian artillery fire dismounted one Turkish gun. Gen. Milikoff on May 1st, leaving the body of the cavalry at Vizinkeff, returned with the remainder of his forces to camp at Ziami. The Russians loss was one killed and five wounded. The Russians took over 100 Turks prisoners.

The Russian batteries at Barboshi fired upon a gunboat and forced it to retire.

Greece in Despair.

ATHENS, May 3.—The English declaration of neutrality has plunged Greece in despair. They say if Turkey is victorious they will gain nothing, and if Russia they lose all chances of gaining Macedonia and Thrace. A military company has been organized, and unless resolutely opposed by the government, will cross the frontier in a day or two.

Russia's Attitude toward Roumania.

BUCHAREST, May 3.—At a secret session of Chambers here, dispatches from Roumanian representatives abroad were read, alleging that an agreement certainly exists between Germany, Austria and Russia, relative to the Eastern question. The information is given by the representatives and must be taken for what it is worth, but their dispatches have materially affected opinion in the Chambers. Prince Charles is working hard to effect an alliance with Russia. This idea is opposed at Russian headquarters. The generals are unwilling to allow Roumanian forces to make a separate corps under command of the Prince or any other general who is not a Russian. It is said there is some disagreement between Prince Charles and Grand Duke Nicholas on this account. If this difficulty can be overcome, Roumania will make common cause with Russia, but not otherwise.

Casus Belli.

The Official Journal suggests that the bombardment of Ibrail is casus belli. Roumanians are making extraordinary preparations. The militia have been called out. It musters 34 infantry and 12 cavalry battalions. Even the heads of families are obliged to serve. Thirty radical deputies desire to introduce a motion for the independence of Roumania.

It is rumored that the Turks have abandoned Tultscha. The roads becoming very bad.

Four Russian infantry regiments with 32 cannon and 2,000 Cossacks arrived in camp at Barboshi. Fifteen engines and 200 railway carriages from Warsaw for Roumania with troops have been stopped by floods.

Plague in Persia.

The frontier of Persia has been entirely closed on account of plague at Reshc and Fabriz.

Turks to Fight Turkey.

The population of occupied territory is so friendly that Milikoff is about to form a cavalry regiment of native volunteers.

Turkey and Roumania.

BERLIN, May 3.—The Porte has issued a circular declaring that Roumania, by her convention with Russia, is betraying the interests of the country and confidence of the Sultan's government. The Porte henceforward considers Roumania as in the power of the enemy, and therefore acts issuing during Russian occupation are in usurpation of the Sultan's authority.

Roumanians Occupy Kalafat.

BUCHAREST, May 3.—The Roumanians have taken military possession of Kalafat; the occupying force numbers 9,000 men with 24 Krupp guns. The Roumanian government is deliberating upon steps to be taken in consequence of the Turks firing upon any fortified town.

The Ultramontane Troubles.

VERSAILLES, May 3.—In the Chamber of Deputies, Minister Simon, replying to M. Lebond's interpellation relative to the Ultramontane intrigues, said neither the government nor any political party could be held answerable for the attacks on foreign governments in the newspapers. Petitions for the re-establishment of the temporal power were the work of a feeble minority. The government had put a stop to these petitions and would not allow any attack on catholicism, which they sincerely respected and which now enjoyed unprecedented liberty. They were determined to make all parties respect the law. The government would protect the clergy while they confined themselves to their spiritual duties, but would deal firmly with them if they encroached on the civil power. The government had hitherto pursued a conciliatory policy because they desired peace in France and Europe, but they would henceforth act with resolution. The debate adjourned till to-morrow.

QUEBEC, May 3.—Snow fell this morning for several hours.

Great Land Slide.

MONTREAL, May 3.—A terrible land slide occurred on the bank of the river Veil et, a tributary of the Batiscan, parish of St. Genevieve, a hundred miles east of this city. The bank is eighty feet high there. Over an acre of land moved, burying a saw and grist mill and a house at the foot of the hill and turning the course of the river. It is positively asserted that ten persons were buried alive. The bodies of Mrs. Massicatte, the owner of the mill, her three children, aged 3, 7 and 12, and Mr. Cloutier's father, Rev. Cloutier, of Three Rivers, have been taken from the ruins hardly recognizable.

PACKARD AND HAYES.

The New York Herald thus answers those who undertake to say that Packard's title as Governor rests on precisely the same foundation as that of Hayes as President:

This argument confuses a question of right with a question of jurisdiction. Who had authority to determine the election of either Hayes or Packard? Not Mr. Hayes, most assuredly. The competent authority to decide the Presidential election was Congress. Congress did decide it, and there is no legal appeal from its judgment. The competent authority for deciding who was elected Governor of Louisiana is pointed out by the constitution and laws of that State. President Hayes has no more to do with it than he has with the question who is governor of any other of the thirty-eight States. He is the legal President because Congress declared him elected, there being no other power competent to make the decision. He can not even review his own title, the constitution giving him no jurisdiction of the question. The constitution gives him just as little jurisdiction to decide local questions arising under the laws of Louisiana. The conclusive answer to Blaine's argument is that Mr. Hayes' own title and the title of Packard are alike beyond the province of the President to decide. Every question must be decided by the authority having jurisdiction on, and it is the plain duty of the President not to intermeddle where he has no legal power.

Municipal Affairs of San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—The grand jury reported to-day that in accordance with the request of the court they paid considerable attention to the general municipal management and their report in advocating various reforms of the city government, recommends strongly the entire abolition of the fee system and payment of regular salaries to all city and county officers. The report also handles the administration of the street department without gloves. Among true bills found are those for murder against John Runk and James Wilson, who killed officer Coots, a few nights ago. It is expected their trial will come up and be disposed of with little delay. The charge of murder against Antonia Yon Apponig, whose case created so much interest some months ago, was ignored. It is rumored that her testimony before the grand jury in relation to the death of Jacobson, with which she was charged, was of such a nature that no jury could be found to indict her.

Settlement of Friedlander's Affairs.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3.—A final settlement was to day effected between Isaac Friedlander and his creditors. The Bank of California and Nevada bank accept the security they held for the amount which Mr. Friedlander owes them, and unsecured creditors take 25 per cent cash and give free release. This makes about $200,000 which will be paid over on Saturday or Monday, and Mr. Friedlander will then resume business on a new basis.

Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—A German named Herman Huntelmann committed suicide yesterday afternoon in his room over Funcke's tannery on Converse street near Brannan, by cutting his throat while in a room on the ground floor of the tannery and then went up stairs where he finished the work and fell to the floor and died. It is thought that the loss of money through shrinkage of mining stocks caused him to take his life.

Probably Drowned.

YREKA, May 3.—Yesterday morning Wm. Laird, son of W. T. Laird, aged about 18, residing at the Virginia ranch on the Klamath river about 18 miles from here, went out to start a wheel in the river used to raise water for irrigation purposes. A short time after his father went to join him and found the wheel started but the boy missing. Search has been made by his father and neighbors ever since, but without finding any trace of him. It is now almost certain that the wheel knocked him into the river and that he was drowned. The Klamath runs swift and it is almost impossible for a person to get out after once in its current.

Vigilantes at Work.

SANTA CRUZ, May 3.—The murderers of De Forest, Francisco Arias and Jose Chamalis were this morning found hanging from the upper cross-beams of upper San Lorenzo bridge dead, their feet and hands being tightly bound with hay ropes. Night before last men were seen in the orchard back of the jail, but as no attempt was made to lynch the prisoners, people concluded that the law would be allowed to take its course. At 2 o'clock this morning the jailor and under sheriff were surrounded by a body of men. These men broke open the jail yard door and obtained from the officers the jail keys. It is surmised that the prisoners were placed in a wagon and driven to the place of execution, the wagon being driven out from under them after the halters were around their necks and had been fastened to a beam above. This morning people gathered in large numbers, but there was no excitement, and while the regret was great that lynch law should be resorted to in this law abiding community in which no one has been executed without due process of law since 1852, there was a feeling of security manifested and general relief that life was no longer endangered by the existence of two as desperate assassins as ever stretched hemp. Chamalis was executed within three hundred yards of where he was born, and at the time of his death was 21 years of age. He was sent to the State prison from this county for three years, for robbing of widow Nodriguez, broke jail, was rearrested and served out his term, his time expiring in March last. Last Monday night he was brought to this place, and confessed all in the presence of four witnesses. According to his statement Arias came to the house where he was and asked him to accompany him to the circus; that he replied that they had no money; that Arias said they would get some; that they went to the locality where DeForest was killed, and that DeForest coming along, Arias fired at him; that DeForest not stopping, Arias fired again, DeForest falling; that they remained in the willows till all was quiet, when they dragged the murdered man across the road. His pockets were robbed; they getting $8, that Arias kept $5 50 of the amount, and that they went to the circus. Arias was thirty eight years of age and born near Pescadero, he still having friends residing in this county. For murdering a sheep herder in San Luis Obispo he was sent to the State prison for three years; his mother having been sent there for life for the same crime. For robbing the house of P. Murphy, of Watsonville, he was sent to the State prison from this county for two years. For a time he denied the murder of DeForest, but on being closely examined indirectly admitted the crime. By request of Chamalis they were put in different cells. The verdict of the jury summoned by the coroner was that the death of deceased was caused by parties unknown to the jury.

NEVADA.

Con. Virginia.

VIRGINIA, May 3.—The Evening Chronicle to-day has an important interview with Superintendent Fair. He says positively that Con Va will pay a two dollar dividend for April, and will continue to pay regularly thereafter. The price of milling has been reduced from $12 to $10 per ton, and mining timbers from $23 to $18 per thousand feet.

THE SOUTHERN HOTEL.—The evidence in regard to the Southern Hotel horror is thus tersely summed up by the Cincinnati Commercial:

It is settled that the fire in the St. Louis hotel commenced not far from where the liquors were kept—that it was not discovered until it had made dangerous headway—that the hotel was constructed as if with a view to be quickly consumed—and that the special anxiety of the managers of the house seemed to be to prevent the disturbance of the guests. The theory upon which the hotel was conducted was that if the fire could not be put out without a disturbance, the duty of the guests was to be burned quietly in their rooms. Then the fire department was so inefficient that the St. Louis papers are merci

NEW POLITICS.

In its issue of this week the Christian Advocate defines with more accuracy its position toward the President and his "policy." Upon the President it makes no attack, but it is at war with the necessity that has compelled him to take the course he pursues. With creating this necessity he had nothing to do, and is not to be blamed, therefore, for being controlled by it. What the Advocate deplores is the fact that when States deny the right of suffrage to a class of citizens, the general government that conferred those rights is admitted to be practically without power to enforce them. "The President,"—the Advocate's words are quoted,—"is not doing the best thing his judgment dictates, but the best thing under the circumstances."

These views are perfectly intelligible. It is "the present popular interpretation of constitutional law" that is really the subject of this criticism. At bottom this is the real question, and it is easier to slur it over than to meet the difficulty.

In many of the Southern States a large part of the colored vote has been deliberately suppressed. This is a simple, naked fact that no denials can meet. But are the people of the United States indifferent to it? To put the question with directness, do they concede that the general government has no constitutional authority to enforce constitutional rights which it has conferred? This issue has as yet been presented to the people only in an indirect way. Stripped of other questions and standing plainly alone, it would be answered in the most positive manner; there would be an emphatic affirmation of the authority of the general government.

But the issue is not plainly presented; it is so complicated with other things that divert the attention from the question of constitutional right, that no appeal can yet be made to the people upon it. The fact is, the people of the Northern States have half consented to the suppression of the colored vote in the South, because they felt that, at the present time it was the less of two evils. Misgovernment so notorious was the product of the old state of things and a change has been permitted, though with misgivings and reluctance. It is felt that intelligence and property have not had adequate representation in the Southern States, and an experiment is tried in the hope that new causes will effect a decomposition of parties hitherto divided on the color line, and recompose them on a different and better plan.

This is the philosophy of the change of programme. It may not be very profound, but it is felt that it is a necessary experiment. Should it fail through the obstinacy of the Southern people, measures sufficiently stringent to enforce the rights of colored men to vote will be called for and adopted. The principle of impartial suffrage will not be renounced by the American people. But the South protests that if the hand of the government is removed the rights of all shall be respected. Give time for a fair trial. The people are determined to try other methods than those of the last twelve years, and the hand of the Executive cannot stay their purpose to arrest the movement toward a new position.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

GREAT CHANGES.

At last Bishop Berkeley is reversed. So enthusiastic observers who profess to see the course of empire taking its way eastward, tell us. To be plain, we are assured by many persons who have traveled widely and observed closely in the region east of the Cascade mountains, that the portions of Oregon and Washington situated there will ere long have larger population than the western division, and more agricultural products. Nor will this seem incredible when we take into consideration the vast area of the eastern division, and the fact once questioned but now fully established, that the plains bearing grass will bring fine crops of grain. The flow of population to that quarter is described by all as unprecedented. Shipments from this place of agricultural implements show a prodigiously increased demand in that direction. For transportation of grain and flour down the Columbia river the rates are so favorable as to offer inducement for settlement as far up as boats are able to run. From Lewiston to Portland grain and flour are carried for eight dollars a ton. This rate is twenty-four cents a bushel for wheat, which is extremely moderate when distance, portages and expenses of running boats on the upper rivers are considered. It costs more from Walla Walla, for the reason that freights from that point to Wallula, charged by the local railroad, have to be paid; and for this distance of thirty miles the rate is four dollars a ton, to be added to six dollars a ton charged on the river from Wallula to Portland. All farmers who are near enough the river to be able to deliver their own grain are fortunately situated. In a large district adjacent to Snake river, now settling rapidly, this advantage is afforded. What would not railway transportation do for Baker, Union and Umatilla counties in Oregon, and for the great tract of country in Washington and Idaho north of Snake river? The result would outrun all calculation and develope speedily a new seat of empire.

It is stated that the Canadian government has expended on Pacific railway surveys during the last six years the large sum of $3,136,615. Over $500,000 was spent last year. From North Red River, through the prairie region of the Saskatchewan to the eastern boundary of British Columbia, that is, to the summit of the main chain of the Rocky mountains, the distance is 1,046 miles and the route is not very difficult. Through British Columbia several routes, all presenting great obstacles, have been examined. Those terminating at Burrard Inlet are shortest, being a little less than 500 miles in length. Other routes, terminating at Bute Inlet, are each about fifty miles longer. The estimates of cost for the British Columbia section are from thirty-three to thirty-eight million dollars, according to the route that may be adopted. This would be a very expensive piece of road, the cost amounting to $70,000 a mile. It is believed that the whole road would cost more than one hundred millions; and the question is, where is the money to come from? No traffic half commensurate with such an outlay could be created during the present century. But there need be no concern about it, since there is scarcely a probability that the present century will witness the construction of the road.

John Jay late Minister to Austria, publishes in the current number of the International Review a striking article on the American Foreign Service, in which some of the notable incidents connected with our diplomatic service abroad during the administration of President Grant, are submitted to severe examination. The jobs that disgraced us at the Vienna Exposition he shows were the direct consequence of intrusting the affairs of the United States, on that occasion, to eager partisans and trucking politicians. Mr. Jay has a pungent comparison with regard to Gen. Grant's pathetic apology in his last annual message. "It seemed," says the writer, "not improbable that the great party which had intrusted to his keeping the honor of the Republic had been helplessly wrecked by the errors of his administration," and the apology "recalls the picture of Marius sitting among the ruins of Carthage."

Mr. Charles Francis Adams, says the New York Tribune, apparently never heard of the party of the name of Cronin.

THE DESERT LAND BILL.

There is a general discussion of this important measure, and that readers of the OREGONIAN may know exactly what its provisions are we print the full text of the bill as it came from the committee of conference and became a law:

Be it enacted, etc., That it shall be lawful for any citizen of the United States, or any person of requisite age, who may be entitled to become a citizen, and who has filed his declaration to become such, and upon payment of 25 cents per acre, to file a declaration under oath with the register and the receiver of the land district in which any desert land is situated, that he intends to reclaim a tract of desert land, not exceeding one section, by conducting water upon the same within the period of three years thereafter. Provided, however, that the right to use the water by the persons so conducting the same on or to any tract of desert land of 640 acres, shall depend upon bona fide prior appropriations; and such right shall not exceed the amount of water actually appropriated and necessarily used for the purpose of irrigation and reclamation, and all surplus water over and above such actual appropriation and use, together with the water of all lakes, rivers and other sources of water supply upon the public lands, and not navigable, shall remain and be held free for the appropriation and use of the public for irrigation, mining and manufacturing purposes, subject to existing rights. Said declaration shall describe particularly said section of land if surveyed, and if unsurveyed, shall describe the same as nearly as possible without a survey, at any time within the period of three years after filing said declaration, upon making satisfactory proof to the Register and Receiver of the reclamation of said tract of land in the manner aforesaid, upon the payment to the Receiver of the additional sum of $1 25, for a tract not exceeding 640 acres to any one person, a patent for the same shall be issued to him, provided that no person shall be permitted to enter more than one tract of land and not to exceed 640 acres, which shall be in compact form.

Sec. 2. That all lands exclusive of timber lands and mineral lands, which will not, without irrigation produce some agricultural crop shall be deemed desert lands within the meaning of this act, which fact shall be ascertained by proof of two or more credible witnesses under oath, whose affidavits shall be filed in the land office in which said tract of land may be registered.

Sec. 3. That this act shall only apply to and take effect in the States of California, Oregon and Nevada, and in the Territories of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, Arizona, New Mexico and Dakota, and the determination of what may be considered desert land shall be subject to the decision and regulation of the Commissioner of the general land office.

Burlington Hawkeye:—"When a San Franciscan gets to be immensely wealthy he builds a palace of a stable, with marble halls, Brussels carpets, and hot and cold water, in every stall; a Chicago millionaire builds a hotel nine stories high; a New Yorker builds a hospital; a Bostonian builds a college, and a Burlington man builds another bay window to his house and paints his front fence."

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY [illegible], 18[illegible]

CITY.

A RISING YOUNG ACTOR.—There are theater-goers in Portland who have forgotten Mr. Samuel W. Piercy, a young actor who visited this city several years ago and played an engagement under the management of Geo. B. Waldron, at Oro Fino Theatre. In a recent number of the Brooklyn (N. Y.) Eagle we find the following notice of this promising actor: Mr. Sam Piercy, who played the part of Fioretti, a Piedmontese, at the Park in "Our Boarding House," was remarkably natural and vigorous in his portraiture. His make-up was an impenetrable disguise. His voice, only his rich, melodious voice betrayed, and his accent was well sustained, accurate and effective. It is not long since Mr. Piercy made his appearance on the stage, but he has developed so rapidly, and has shown so much versatility and aptitude for the art, that we may aspire to something greater than even excellent character actor's position. Fiction is an extremely ungrateful one to follow, yet Mr. Piercy, in spite of the obvious sympathy which his faithful presentation provoked, earned more than one round of applause from a discriminating audience, who appreciated his skill and conscientiousness.

DEATH OF MR. HARNED.—Mr. J. J. Harned received a dispatch Thursday from Townsend conveying the sad intelligence of the death of Mr. J. J. Harned, a gentleman well known in Portland. Mr. Harned was engaged in business in this city for some time. Failing health at length compelled him to relinquish his business and to seek for rest in the more genial climate of the Golden State. Last January he left here and went down to Southern California. Relief was eagerly sought, came not, and his condition continuing to grow worse, he started for home. Sound. About two weeks ago Mr. Harned arrived on the steamer Dakota at his old home in Port Townsend. He was very low with that dreadful disease—consumption—and so weak, that his physician thought it advisable to remain there for a time to gain strength before continuing his journey to this city. He daily declined, and yesterday the end came. Deceased was aged about years. He was a most estimable gentleman in all the relations of life, and his death will be severely regretted.

SUBMARINE CURIOSITY.—Mr. John [illegible] the merchant tailor, has placed on our [illegible] curiosity in the bivalve line. A few days Mr. Loomis, of Shoalwater Bay, while gathering oysters in his beds, came across a portion of an old stove which apparently had been lying in the water for many years. Scattered about this fragment of iron Mr. L. found a great number of oysters. When first came across the heap, he was at a loss to determine what it was, but upon examination he discovered, to his surprise, that the oysters had attached themselves to the stove. How long the fragment of the stove had been in the water, or where it came from, there is no means of ascertaining. From its oxydized appearance the iron must have been exposed to the action of the salt water for a long time. The bivalves attached were large and in good condition.

A PAINFUL ACCIDENT.—Under date of Suisun, California, April 27th, we are in receipt of the following letter from Prof. McGibeny, which will no doubt be perused with interest by his many friends in this city. He says: "Through your paper the many friends of our family will be made aware of the following accident: When driving in Suisun City, Wednesday last, our team ran away and Frank, the eldest, aged 14 years, was badly hurt. The right arm was broken, the leg terribly mangled, and other less serious injuries received. This morning gangrene set in and the arm has been taken off near the shoulder. We trust his life may be spared, and the symptoms are decidedly favorable. He bears his pain and suffering so bravely. Have never seen adult suffer more patient.

STILL IN MELBOURNE.—Miss Annie Pixley (nee Mrs. Robert Fulford) is now playing at the Victoria theater, Melbourne, New South Wales, and judging from the tone of the press she has become an established favorite there. We have before us extracts from all the leading papers—Echo, Punch, Herald, Australian, Argus—which speak in very complimentary terms of that clever little lady. We learn that Mrs. Fulford has secured a re-engagement at the theater, and will probably not return for a year. Mr. and Mrs. Fulford have many warm friends on this coast, and especially in Portland, all of whom will be gratified to learn of the good fortune attending these deserving artistes.

AQUATIC SPORTS.—At the Red Men's picnic to take place on the 12th inst., there will be a scull race and a four oared race exhibition in the sports of the day. Robert Austin, George Wilson will test their strength and skill as scullers, and in the four oared race Portland and Scotch clubs will make a race for the prize. Wilkinson, O'Shea, Edwards and Chase, representing the Portland club, will row in the boat Cressid. Burns, Austin, Wilson and Morrison, represent the Scotch club, will use the Cutty Sark. All the expected participants are skilled in the use of the oar, and exciting contests will be witnessed.

GONE TO THE SOUND.—Mr. Chas. Schultz, advance agent for Madame De Murska, has gone to the Sound for the purpose of determining if it will justify him in taking the opera troupe to Olympia, Seattle and Victoria. If the citizens of those places will evince sufficient interest, Mr. Schultz will make arrangements for giving first-class operatic representations. Our Victoria and Sound readers will form some idea of the high order of Madame De Murska's talents when the fact is stated that she is in daily receipt of letters from the principal cities of Europe, offering her engagements, inquiring for terms, etc.

ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL.—The pupils of St. Joseph's school, taught by the Misses Ann and Emma Showers, held their annual May festival yesterday afternoon. The little ones clad in white formed in procession at the school, near the corner of Stark and Third streets, and marched to Gobd Templar Hall, corner of Third and Alder streets. After reaching there, a very interesting musical and literary programme was carried out. At the conclusion of these pleasant and profitable exercises, the pupils reformed and marched back to the school where a basket lunch was discussed.

UP IN THE LANGUAGE.—Jack the good natured butcher who does a lucrative business at the Fulton market, has mastered the Chinese language sufficiently to "gather them in." This is the secret of so many Celestials favoring our jovial friend with their patronage. It is amusing to hear Jack and the Chinese have a "confab" over the quality of the meat sold at the shop and upon other matters of less importance.

SEVERELY INJURED.—The Advocate says: "Hon. J. S. Smith, while standing, on Sunday morning, near the edge of a rear porch at the residence of H. Y. Thompson, where he is at present living, slipped on the wet floor and fell to the ground, a distance of three or four feet, falling on his right side, badly bruising his forearm and side, injuring him so much that he is likely to be confined to his bed for several days."

MEMORIAL DAY.—This evening a meeting will be held at Good Templar Hall at [illegible] o'clock, by all honorably discharged sailors and soldiers. The object of the meeting is to make arrangements for the proper observation of Decoration Day. A full attendance is requested.

ELOCUTION.—Mrs. D. F. Smith, who has read to the satisfaction of many at the recent festivals, is giving lessons in elocution at her residence, Columbia street, near Fourth. Quite a number of scholars are enrolled.

WOMEN'S B. OF H.—There will be a meeting of the Women's Band of Helpers this (Friday) afternoon at the Unitarian Chapel at 3 o'clock.

FUNERAL.—The funeral of the late Geo. Abernethy, will take place at one o'clock this day from the Taylor Street M. E. Church.

For Corsets, go to the Emporium of Fashion.

PERSONAL.

We acknowledge calls from Hon. Joseph Gaston, of Gaston, and from Geo. A. Edes, Esq., of Salem.

Prof. W. H. Roberts, our correspondent at Olympia, dropped in on us yesterday. He is on his way home from a visit to San Francisco.

Among the passengers who arrived on the Elder we note Mr. J. M. Reed, postmaster at Steubenville, Ohio. Mr. Reed is visiting Oregon in order to obtain information regarding its resources. He states that a number of persons living in his county were contemplating emigrating to this State.

Yesterday we received a very pleasant call from Horatio Alger, Esq., of New York. Mr. Alger is a gentleman of very considerable literary reputation. He has been for some years a regular contributor to a number of the leading journals and periodicals of New York, and is also the author of a number of very popular juvenile works. His course to California several months ago partially for the benefit of his health, and also to collect materials for a juvenile serial story, which has been written and will shortly appear in the New York Weekly. Before returning East, Mr. Alger will visit various portions of our State and the Sound. This morning he will start for The Dalles for the express purpose of witnessing with his own eyes the unsurpassed scenery along the "Lordly Columbia." He will return in a few days, and soon start for the Sound. His impressions of Oregon are very favorable, and after his return East we shall confidently anticipate a good report from his vigorous pen. We found Mr. Alger a cultivated and affable gentleman.

BODY RECOVERED.

REMAINS OF LIEUT. J. L. KNAPP RECOVERED—BURIAL OF THE LATE J. S. MOORE.

Our regular Astoria correspondent sends the following, under date of the 2d:

This morning soldiers from the fort brought the news that the body of Lieut. J. L. Knapp had been found by one of Col. Miller's scouts, who have patrolled the beach on horse-back for several days, on Clatsop beach, about four miles from the fort. The lieutenant had divested himself of the heavy military overcoat he had on when he started on his ill-fated trip, and from the fact of his short military jacket being buttoned closely around his body when found, it is presumed, as he was an excellent swimmer, that failing to right the boat, he accepted as a forlorn hope the chance of reaching the shore by swimming. Doubtless he kept afloat a long time, and this may account for his body crossing the bar and being found at such a distance from that of poor Moore, who it is known could not swim at all.

Lieutenant Knapp was a member of Temple Lodge No. 7, F. & A. M., and also of Beaver Lodge No. 35, I. O. O. F. The members of both these societies are called to meet to-morrow (Thursday) morning at their lodge rooms preparatory to leaving on the steamer General Canby to attend his funeral, which will take place at Fort Stevens with military honors at 11 o'clock A. M.

Wednesday morning the remains of Mr. J. S. Moore, escorted by the Knights of Pythias, were conveyed on board the steamer General Canby to Fort Stevens, and were buried in the military burying ground attached to the fort, in the presence of a large assembly of mourning relatives and friends.

AMUSEMENTS.

MARITANA.—To-night the members of the English and Comic Opera Company will arrive from the Sound, after a very successful professional tour. LOVE, COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE.—Dr. Brenan delivered this highly instructive lecture last evening at Masonic Hall to a large and intelligent audience, which showed their appreciation by frequent hearty applause. This subject the doctor handled in an able manner, commanding the admiration of all present. The old and the young alike took in the situation, and listened with pleasure to the sayings of this highly polished and magnetic speaker. Those who fail to hear him will miss a real feast of reason and scientific instruction on the laws that govern being.

The private lecture this afternoon to ladies only, is spoken of by our exchanges as being popular. Judging from the large number of ladies who attend, and from the fact that by a vote of those present, the subject has been continued in a second lecture. Doors open at 1:45, and lecture commences at 2:30 P. M. Admission 25 cents at the door. To-night his lecture on "Manhood" will be given to gentlemen only. This lecture is of the utmost importance to young men just entering manhood proper, as instruction will be given on a character calculated to aid them in shunning the evils and vices of life. Old men will also find many things worth listening to, for none are too old to learn in this age of progress and scientific investigation. Admission, 50 cents—at Gray's Music Store or at the door. Lecture at 8:15. Come early and hear every word.

THE VERDICT.

The coroner's jury summoned to inquire into the cause and circumstances of the terrible death of Frank Cogswell, met yesterday morning at the office of A. P. DeLin. After consulting for some time, the jury returned the following verdict:

State of Oregon, city of Portland, county of Multnomah:—On an inquisition taken at Portland, Oregon, on this the 2d and 3d days of May, 1877, before A. P. DeLin, coroner of the county of Multnomah, upon view of the body of Frank Cogswell, upon the oaths of six good and lawful men of said county who being summoned and sworn to inquire who the person killed is, and when, where and by what means he came to his death, do, upon their oaths, say that we find deceased was named Frank Cogswell, and that he came to his death on the track of the Oregon and California railroad at a place about 200 yards southeast of J. B. Stephens' house in the city of East Portland, Multnomah county, Oregon, between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock A. M., on the 2d day of May, 1877; and that the death of said Frank Cogswell was caused by his being run over by engine No. 14 of O. and C. R. The jury further find from the evidence produced before them that the said Frank Cogswell was very deaf, and, in consequence of such deafness, carried a slate for persons who desired to converse with him to write upon; that said Frank Cogswell was walking on the railroad track in the same direction in which the engine was moving, and, from the evidence, it appears that the engine was moving at a speed usual on that part of the road and that the engineer made all proper endeavor to warn the man of his approach and also to stop his engine after having discovered him on the track.

In witness of the above, the jurors and coroner set their hand and seal this 2d day of May, 1877: John F. Dillon, foreman; C. E. DeBolt, A. Roberts, C. S. Silver, D. H. Stearns. A. P. DeLin, coroner.

CAPITAL NOTES.

Our new correspondent, under date of May 3d, sends the following

Currency is scarce and quite a demand for it.

Some of the new wool clip is coming into market; 21 cents is now being paid.

Mr. Alonzo Gleser, our former county surveyor, is now in Eastern Oregon and writing encouraging news concerning the new silver mines in that locality.

Ex-Mayor Wright wears the sunniest countenance of any man in town, all because he is President of the Capital Mining Co., and stocks are advancing.

The young ladies of our city have adopted the novel plan of drawing straws for choice when two or more gallants call to escort them to church Sunday evenings.

Only three marriage licenses were issued by our county clerk during the month of April, being the smallest number for one month issued for several years. What are we coming to?

In the course of a few weeks Salem will have more new doctors than the place can support. A large class are to graduate from the Medical Department of the University.

W. J. Herren and Squire Ferrus have formed a partnership for the purpose of buying wool this season. They are capable men for this business, and will engage actively in it.

Street Commissioner Price has persuaded the Chinamen of our city that it is their duty to pay poll and road tax. The Johns consulted a lawyer before accepting the situation, and in a day or so a large force will be out doing duty as law abiding American citizens.

We give the list of graduates of the University who have passed the required examinations and will receive their diplomas at the hands of President Gatch on commencement day next month: T. C. Jory, classical course, degree of A. B. Those who are to receive the degree of B. S., ladies, are Althea Monroe, Bertha Moores, Estelle Griffith, Hattie Collier, Ada May, Emma Jones, Nellie Meacham, Ida Hutton, Nora Ross, Anna Lawrence and Nettie Cook. The gentleman are Quincy Grubbe, Frank McCully, Geo. A. Jessies, R. J. Nichols and Frank Irvine. One interesting feature of this class is that, with one or two exceptions, they have received their entire education at the university. The class is one of which President Gatch and his able assistants may well feel proud.

The Wise Course in Rheumatism.

Rheumatic persons who have been induced to submit to depletion by blood letting, or to take colchicum and other drugs of an equally pernicious character, will consult their well being by abandoning such insane procedure, and using as a substitute Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will infallibly afford them the much desired relief, and is absolutely safe. This benign vegetable depurent cools the blood by expelling from it the inflammatory elements which give rise to maladies of a rheumatic and gouty type, and rectifies disordered conditions of the stomach, nervous system and bowels which usually accompany them. As rheumatism has a tendency to attack the heart, the desirability of an early resort to the Bitters is obvious, since the danger is increased by every moment of delay.

LYON'S KATHAIRON makes beautiful, glossy, luxuriant hair; prevents its falling out or turning gray. It has stood the test of 40 years. Is charmingly perfumed, and has no rival.

HAGAN'S MAGNOLIA BALM preserves and restores the complexion; removes freckles, tan and sallowness; makes the skin soft, white and delicate. Its application cannot be detected.

Advertised by Smiles

Is SOZODONT, and if you use it daily, the white gleam of the pearls between the parted rubies will prove its excellence as a Dentrifice, and the sweetness of the breath will attest its purifying properties.

We have often wondered whether there is a person in the country who does not know and appreciate the value of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment as a family medicine? It is adapted to meet all purposes, and is the best pain destroyer that can be used.

Farmers and stock raisers have frequently told us that they have seen very good results from giving Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders to cows and swine before and after they drop their young. The powders put them in good condition, and give them strength to care and provide for the sucklings.

Good Advice.

Now is the time of year for Pneumonia, Lung Fever, etc. Every family should have a bottle of BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP. Don't allow for one moment that cough to take hold of your child, your family or yourself. Consumption, Asthma, Pneumonia, Croup, Hemorrhages and other fatal diseases may set in. All ough it is true GERMAN SYRUP is curing thousands of these dreaded diseases, yet it is much better to have it at hand when three doses will cure you. One bottle will last your whole family a winter and keep you safe from danger. If you are consumptive, do not rest until you have tried this remedy. Sample bottles 10 cents; regular size 75 cents. Sold by your Druggist. Agents, Crane & Brigham, Wholesale Druggists, San Francisco.

The undersigned in taking leave of Portland returns his sincere thanks for the liberal patronage that has been bestowed, and would bespeak for his successors a continuance of the same.

THE PAPYGRAPH.

IS AN EXTRAORDINARY INVENTION FOR printing copies by the thousands from a single autograph writing or drawing. From one writing by this process a thousand permanent fac simile impressions of circulars, price lists, specifications, examination papers, assessment notices, etc., may be printed in an ordinary copying press, upon any description of paper. Copies may be taken direct from the writing without any of the usual operations of inking, rolling, transferring or typesetting. A proof impression may be procured within five minutes after a manuscript has been completed, and be afterwards multiplied at the rate of five hundred an hour, at an infinitessimal cost.

One Thousand Copies

May be produced from a single sheet of Papyrograph Paper, and a single application of color, at an expense of four cents. It possesses over or nting the advantages of an Autograph Letter, besides admitting of illustrations without the expense of wood cuts. It allows autograph letters to pass through the mail as third class matter. It is invaluable to any business. It can be seen in operation at the office of the agent for Oregon.

Gold in New York, 100¾.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 93¾; selling 94¾.

Silver Coin—@5 per cent. discount.

There is some demand from the fisheries for accommodations at the banks, and a slight call from outside parties who have important improvements in contemplation, but merchants and others find but little reason to ask extended favors, being generally able to meet their obligations without any serious pressure. Rates for loans and discounts are unchanged.

The silver question, which has been a great element of disturbance in business circles on this coast, is attracting a good deal of attention elsewhere. A reliable French publication—the Journal des Economistes—says that up to the discovery of America the amount of gold known to be in the world was $482,500,000, and about the same amount of silver. Between 1492 and 1848 America had produced $1,930,000,000, and other lands $1,651,000,000 in gold. During this period the silver product of America aggregated $5,225,000,000, and other countries $874,100,000. Between 1848 and 1874 the gold product aggregated $5,200,000,000 and the silver $2,597,800,000. The total, therefore, of gold has been $9,263,500,000 and of silver $9,188,950,000.

The Chicago Journal of Commerce, the leading commercial paper of the West says the fact that the aggregate amount of these metals has been so nearly the same in value furnishes an unanswerable argument that they should for all time to come be recognized not only as valuable mediums of exchange, but as bearing the same relative value as in times past.

Domestic Produce

During the week now under review the most important topic in trade circles has been the recent rise in the breadstuffs market, and the probabilities of its permanence. The question as to whether it will be sustained until the Oregon farmers shall gather their next crop is one of immense importance to the people, especially the farming interests of the State. We trust that should the causes which have produced the late advance continue in existence until after harvest, that the farmers will so manage as to secure the full benefit of it, and that it will redound as it has on last year's crop to the profit of the buyers in the English market. An instance or two might be named of shippers here who have made very handsome sums on two or three cargoes shipped late in the season, but the great bulk of the crop was sold afloat to English purchasers before the rise, so that neither Oregon producers or Oregon shippers as a general thing have made much by the advance. The rise, no doubt, on the 15 cargoes which reached English ports on the 20th and 25th ult., inclusive, netted somebody a profit of nearly half a million dollars, but all these cargoes were sold by the shippers prior to arrival.

The receipts of wheat at this port for the past ten days have been considerable, induced by the high rates prevailing, and but little more is reported in sight, except what is held by millers. The market touched about the highest point on Saturday, when the excitement ran it up to about 15 cents per cental above its real value in the market, comparing sales here with those in Liverpool and San Francisco. Since that time it has somewhat declined and a more quiet feeling has prevailed. To-day quotations, though having a pretty wide range, are in no case given above $2 75 per cental, and sales have been made as low as $2 60, buyers at the same time quoting at $2 50 and upwards. Flour has kept pace with the rise in wheat, and quotations are steady at $8 50 per barrel for standard brands, with a proportionate reduction for outside brands and superfine. Mill feed of all descriptions has also gone up to correspond with the fancy figures at which wheat and flour are held, as will be seen by reference to our quotations.

Provisions have undergone but little change and receipts supply the current demand amply, both for the local trade and for shipping. Bacon is still quotable at 18@14 for good side, while lard in kegs and 10 lb tins is steady at 14 cents. Dairy products are in full supply and prices are a little off for all except choice lots to meet requirements for home consumption. Eggs are in very little demand at over 16 cents per dozen, though sales are occasionally effected at 18, the maximum buying price for the jobbing trade. Shipments will hardly bear it.

But little has yet actually transpired to give an indication of the future of the wool trade, but producers have some reason to hope, as they generally do, for a material improvement on last year's prices.

Liverpool Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

LIVERPOOL, May 3.—Breadstuffs dull; corn, 27s for new mixed western; wheat, 12s 10d@12s 3d for average California white, 12s 10d@12s for club.

New York Freights and Markets.

NEW YORK, May 3.—At the wharves of the California ships to-day there was a fair degree of activity, and the Pactolus and Sterling received considerable freight, and it is probable that the former will finish Saturday, and the latter by the close of next week. Although the market is scarcely as lively as a couple of weeks ago, there is still considerable freight in the market, but agents are not at all anxious to accept it at current rates, as they are not disposed to hurry off their vessels in view of the difficulty in procuring others to follow, except at prices that are $2 per ton higher than is now paid. Owners are demanding this advance on present rates, in view of non-paying business on arrival at San Francisco. Rates remain very firm at late quotations, and an early advance is looked for, and offerings freight still include considerable quantities of dry goods, but still there is a noticeable falling off in shipments, owing to the fact that the season is about over. Other offerings include several lots of heavy goods; also a quantity of petroleum, and the Sterling has over 14,000 cases engaged. Freights at Boston are slow, the Raymard trading there is better than half full. The Philadelphia market is also quiet, and the Tim O'Sumner and H. S. Gregory, the latter with coal, are loading slowly.

Merchandise markets show a fair degree of activity in some instances and an equal depression in others. Flour met a better demand but prices are weaker though better grades are held with firmness. English market brands are dull and nominal. Wheat is dull lower and irregular; transactions being at 3@5 under yesterday's prices. Foreign advices were unfavorable to export interests. Rio Coffee advanced a quarter, closing very firm at 15¾@20¾ for cargoes. Sugars a good demand, higher with large sales. Teas, the regular market very quiet. The auction sale went off firm. Hides moderately active, but prices are far above the views of buyers; California quoted 22@23 gold. Petroleum dull lower. During the last few days there has been large speculations in Turkish, Dutch and Sicily canary seed at marked advances in prices. Transactions in the past few days amount to 4,000 bags beginning at $2 and running up to $3 50 for Smyrna; $3 90 for Dutch and $4 for Sicily. Some holders asking more. A short time since Smyrna sold here at $1 62½.

PRATT'S MINERAL COLZA OIL.
300° FIRE TEST.
Chas. Pratt & Co., New York,
Sole Proprietors and Manufacturers.

To Consumers of High Fire-Test Mineral Oils.

YOUR ATTENTION IS PARTICULARLY INVITED to our 300° Fire-Test Oil, called "Pratt's Mineral Colza," which we are now manufacturing expressly for STEAMSHIP, RAILROAD and MILL ILLUMINATION, or for use where an exceedingly high Fire-Test Oil is required. It has already been adopted by many of the Railroads throughout the country, and by most of the coastwise steamers sailing from New York, whose continuance of its use in preference to all similar Oils is sufficient commendation as to its quality. It will not burn well in the ordinary Petroleum Lamp, it being of too heavy gravity for such use; but in the German Student Lamp and those with double wick burners, we guarantee it to give perfect satisfaction producing a pure flame of great brilliancy. Our facilities for manufacturing are excellent, and equal to any demand, while the price is much lower than that of any oil in the market of the same character and fire test. The U. S. law in regard to the use of these Oils on passenger steamers is very explicit, as follows:

"Any Oil which will stand a Fire Test of Three Hundred (300°) Degrees Fahrenheit, may be carried as freight or used as stores on any steamer carrying passengers."

We beg to offer the following Certificates, which have been handed us from the very best authorities obtainable, in regard to the test of the Mineral Colza Oil, and they may be considered perfectly reliable:

Report of Prof. S. Dana Hayes, Massachusetts State Assayer.

[COPY.] BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 19th, 1876

A sample of burning Oil, marked Mineral Colza, manufactured by CHARLES PRATT & Co., of New York City, has been tested by me with the following result. It has a Fire Test of 329° Fahrenheit. It does not ignite under 328° F.

(Signed) S. DANA HAYES,
Massachusetts State Assayer.

Report of Inspector of Petroleum Oil, for State of Massachusetts.

[COPY.] BOSTON, October 4th 1876.

I have tested samples of Mineral Colozo Oil, from CHARLES PRATT & Co., New York City, and find the igniting point or Fire Test to be 316° Fahrenheit. (Signed) R. F. MEANS,
Mass. State Inspector of Petroleum,

Report on Sample of Mineral Colozo Oil, Tested for U. S. Inspector of Steamers 2d District

[COPY.] NEW YORK, April 25th, 1876.

MR. ADDISON LOW, U. S. Sub. Inspector.

DEAR SIR: We have tested the sample of Mineral Colozo Oil presented by you, and find it stands a Fire Test of 300° Fahrenheit, and we consider it in all respects a very superior Oil.

(Signed) LOCKWOOD, BROS. & HOLLY,
Petroleum Inspectors appointed by N. Y. City Produce Exchange.

To the Trade.

The undersigned beg to call your attention to all of the above, and thus advise you that they will at all times have a full supply of the above mentioned goods on hand, and would be pleased to have your orders.
